“the new modern wool that thinks about the future of the planet”

The Woolten fabric is a new Manteco product with a patented special carded yarn. Born from the combination of two highly sustainable products: the Tencel certified by Lenzing obtained from eucalyptus trees grown by FSC certified companies, and the recycled wool based on circular economy, subjected to rigorous chemical controls, while saving water and avoiding the release of CO2 in the atmosphere. With a color chart with more than a thousand variations Woolten is the new modern wool that thinks about the future of the planet.
